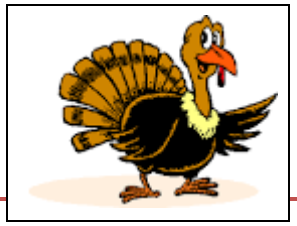
BOD & SHOW COMMITTEE MEETING
January 25, 2018

All are welcome.



A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT, DICK PIPPEN, RPIPPEN@COMCAST.NET

Greetings Orchid Lovers—At our October meeting we were introduced to the wonderful world of Neofinitea falcata orchids, or Furan as the Japanese would call these little wonders. Dr. Karen Uthus of New World Orchids, Manchester, MI, told us all about the collection of these "precious little gems" that can sell for as much as $10,000 and be only a couple of inches tall!! And interestingly, in Japan are grown more for their foliage than the delightful fragrant flowers. In fact, in judging Neos in Japan, all the flowers have to be cut off!! Hmmm—think I will have mine judged in this country if at all ☺.

Irma, thank goodness, is now a thing of the past, though fading very slowly from our memories as witnessed by all the debris along the street and damaged pool cages in the "back yards." I hope that you and yours, including your orchids, suffered minimal damage. We at the Pippen house faired pretty well with no structural damage but several trees and shrubs down (still waiting to get a couple of trees out). We managed to bring all of the orchids in the house or in the shuttered lanai, so they managed pretty well.

It was nice to see 65 people make it to our October meeting, and to see quite a few blooming plants brought in for display. As you know, Irma caused us to cancel our September meeting, and also our October Newsletter, but we are "back on track" now.

Also at the November meeting you will have one more chance to put in your idea for a theme for our upcoming 2018 Orchid Show (the last weekend in February), so put on your "thinking caps." And, the November meeting is our "Official Annual Meeting," at which we select our new officers for 2018. The list of nominees appears elsewhere in this newsletter. So, until next time—keep your orchids happy.

Dick

JADE ORCHID DAMAGE FROM HURRICANE IRMA

Judy & Dave White are long time NOS members & huge supporters of our organization. They suffered quite a bit of damage during Irma. Below are some photos I pulled up from their Facebook website. We wish them all the best as they continue to rebuild. Please support them by visiting and buying some orchids or supplies for your collection. …… Kris

An Orchid Vignette—Elizabeth Ann and Her Crownpoint

Orchids are such fascinating and addictive plants. We all start out with the showy orchids like Phalaenopsis or Dendrobiums, which bloom for such a long time, and Cattleyas, because we all like the big fancy "corsage" flowers. But after a while one gets interested in the more bizarre of the family, and one of the most bizarre is the genus Bulbophyllum. Bulbophyllum is one of the largest orchid genera with over 1000 species and an equal number of hybrids. Unlike many orchids that are restricted to one or more geographical regions, Bulbophyllums are "pan-tropical" meaning they occur in the tropical regions all around the world. Because the genus is so large, it has been subdivided into at least 70 groups. But two distinctive features tie them all together: the flowering spike originates from the base of the pseudobulb and the lip of the flower is like a "teeter-totter" in that it is very delicately attached and "nods" up and down. This is a factor that aids in pollination. I want to talk about two of my favorite hybrid Bulbos here: Bulbophyllum Crownpoint and Bulbophyllum Elizabeth Ann. Both of these hybrids share in common one parent—Bulbophyllum rothschildianum.

Bulbophyllum Elizabeth Ann is probably one of best known of the Bulbophyllums. It produces clusters of 5-6 "pinkish" flowers in an "umbel" arrangement on long stalks that "hang down" from the plant. The individual flowers are long and slender, up to 6 inches long, but less than half an inch wide. Elizabeth Ann is a cross between Bulb. longissimum and Bulb. rothschildianum. It was created by Stuart Low Orchids in England and registered by Joseph Chambers, New York, in 1969. The grex has earned 37 AOS and international awards and has been used as a parent in 14 crosses. For me, it usually only blooms once a year—usually in September/October.

Elizabeth Ann's cousin, Bulbophyllum Crownpoint also produces clusters of 3-5 flowers in an "umbel" on 4-5 inch stalks but the flowers are much shorter and are darker in color. Bulb. Crownpoint is a cross between Bulb. rothschildianum and Bulb. frostii. It was created and registered by Marilyn LeDoux of Labadie, Missouri in 2004. The grex has earned six AOS awards and has been used as a parent in three crosses. It is a "much younger" cross that Elizabeth Ann. Blooming time for this grex is more variable, developing flowers in the Spring and Summer as well as in October.

I grow all of my Bulbophyllums in sphagnum moss and most of them in plastic pots, although I have a few mounted on cork or in baskets. I keep them in about the same light as Cattleyas, but they get a little more shade in the afternoon. While I have been somewhat successful, Marilyn Moser has a much larger Bulbo collection and is very successful with them. They are fun plants, try some.
