A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Dick Pippen
Rpippen@comcast.net

Greetings Orchid Lovers—The Naples Botanical Garden is going strong and has great plans to be even stronger and better (even though I think it is pretty good now). Brian Galligan, Vice President for Horticulture, our featured speaker at our April monthly meeting, laid out the plans for continued growth and development. Thank you Brian, we appreciate your being able to "pinch-hit" for Nick Ewy who had a chance to go to Cuba for some research.

I want to thank all of you who brought in plants for our Plant Table competition at the meeting on April 11 (this year the second Thursday, not the first due to a church related activity taking precedence). I thought we were at the Show there were so many beautiful plants. Every table was "jammed full" of the most beautiful orchids. This surely is orchid blooming season as witnessed by the number of plants on the tables. I also want to give a BIG THANK YOU to Lanelle Bishop and Karen Davenport who worked very diligently all through the meeting to tally your votes. It certainly would be nice if some of our members would step forward and volunteer to help out occasionally at the Plant Table. It is a great learning experience and would give Lanelle and Karen an chance to enjoy the program once in a while.

I also want to thank Mary Jo Shively and Corrie VanCaulil for their efforts in taking care of the refreshment table, and also a big thank you to everyone who brings in such a delicious and varied assortment of tasty treats each month. Keep up the good work!!

Our next monthly meeting will be on Thursday, May 2. Nick Ewy of the Naples Botanical Garden will be out featured speaker and I am sure that he will not only talk about the orchids at the Garden, but also report on his recent visit to Cuba. It should be very interesting. Hope you all can make it. Until then-keep your orchids happy. Dick

Minutes of the NOS Monthly Meeting
11 April 2019

Respectfully submitted by Cynthia Bock

The meeting was called to order at 7:30pm.
Dick reviewed the emergency procedures and thanked the refreshment providers.
President Dick Pippen reported that meeting in July will also be the second Thursday. Dick mentioned that Orchid Wiz is offering a bargain on their software for new customers, 30% off. Last week Dick spoke to the Marco Island Women's Club, over 100 ladies. Dick presented all about orchids in 25 minutes (ha ha!). They provided a $100 honorarium to our scholarship fund.

Veronica Catrombon, Membership Chair, reported that we have 175 members and 26 new members for 2019. She reminded us that all newsletters are on the website. And on the show page are all our photos.

VP Lanelle Bishop reported that there is a bus trip to Redlands on May 18th. Details in newsletter. It is almost full, so sign up soon.

Treasurer Sheila Demkovich reported that balance in money market $23,590 and in checking $16,090. Sponsorships of the show almost covered the expenses of the show, so support our sponsors. Scholarship checks went out today. We are giving $1000 scholarships to 3 students: Michael Larusso, to monitor existing ghost orchids in FL Panther Wildlife Preserve, Jackie Lou, to study those orchids in FL Panther Wildlife Preserve, and Taylor Sorrel, to work on the BioWall, an indoor plant structure to improve air quality inside. They will be here in July and present at our meeting about their projects.

VP David Orr introduced our speaker.
The speaker tonight was Brian Galligan, VP of Horticulture at Naples Botanical Garden, who spoke about Growing Orchids Well and with a Purpose.
Plant table winners were announced.
Raffle winners were selected.
Next meeting is on May 2nd.

More Orchid Terms

- Bigeneric: Involving two distinct genera in the parentage; applied to hybrids.
- Cane: An elongated dendrobium pseudobulb clothed with lives.
- Keiki: The Hawaiian word for baby and applied to an offset or offshoot from an orchid plant.
- Monopodial: A form of growth in which there is a single stem that continues to grow from its apex year after year.
- Sympodial: A form of growth in which each new shoot, springing from the rhizome of the previous growth, is complete in itself.

FROM YOUR AOS REP
Marilyn Moser
Mm3purple@aol.com

If you attended our April meeting, I'm sure you were in awe and wonderment at the sheer number and beauty of the orchids that were brought in. 103 plants were there to be admired. It only proves that our society certainly has many wonderful orchid growers. Just as an example, 14 small Cattleyas were shown. I must admit that with so many gorgeous plants it was difficult to pick which one to vote for! And I certainly enjoyed our speaker talk about the Naples Botanical Garden: its history, the present and what the future holds. We are so fortunate to have such a wonderful garden here in Naples. Plus we are also incredibly fortunate that we hold our annual show there. We make great partners*! Marilyn*

From AOS "Growing Orchids Month-by-Month Checklist--May
By Robert M. Scully Jr.

- Before dividing a cattleya, get a head start. With a sterile & very sharp knife, sever the rhizome completely or even partially (at the appropriate point to insure that it will have at least three or four pseudobulbs per division) while the plant is still in its original pot. After new growth emerges (weeks later,) complete the repotting project. When securing new divisions in their pots, use some cushioning material, e.g. a redwood chip (or tree fern square) between the rhizome clip and the rhizome to prevent trauma to the sensitive plant tissue.

- Repot phalaenopsis that have finished flowering. Wait for the emergence of a new leaf in the crown before proceeding. When you repot, remove the old inflorescence & eliminate all rotten or completely dehydrated roots. Fertilize repotted plants only when new roots become visible; select a fertilizer formula tailored to use on the medium in which phalaenopsis now grow. Consider a spraying program with a recommended fungicide.

Snaphsots from April's Meeting

An Orchid Vignette—Royal Beau—A Prince of an Orchid

If a plant is named Royal Beau, then it has to be a Prince, right? So, this is a Prince among orchids! I have had Sophrocattleya Royal Beau in my collection since 2008. In an effort to be creative I mounted it on a decorative piece of grape wood and it looked very nice and grew fairly well, and flowered at least twice a year (photo at left). Then in 2012 the grape wood mount, and its oak base both rotted, so I was forced to remove the plant from the mount and put into a mundane clay pot in a mix of sphagnum moss and coconut chunks. Fortunately the plant adapted to its new home and continued to thrive. What really surprised me is that for its "next season of flowering" it produced a nice 3-flower spike in October, 2012, and has been a "regular bloomer" all these years Now is that princely or what! (I must admit that I have since changed it to a plastic pot with a bark mix, and it is still doing ok and blooming.)

Sophrocattleya Royal Beau is a cross between Cattleya Princess Bells and Sophrocattleya Beaufort. It was created by H&R Orchids of Hawaii and registered by them in 1995. It has received 33 AOS and international awards The grex I have has a cultivar name of 'Hihimanu' which finally received an AM/AOS in 2015. Royal Beau has been a parent in 25 crosses. Ok, now the big question is since C. Princess Bells is a standard Cattleya with large white flowers and Sc. Beaufort is a compact or mini-catt, with primarily yellow flowers, how come Royal Beau is pinkish peach, with a darker fuchsia lip suffused with some orange/yellow in the throat?? Well, not sure, but this kind of thing happens in complex hybrids. And one of the grandparents is Sophronitis coccinea which is red, and way way back in the parentage of Princess Bells, is C. mossiae which is usually lavender. Wherever it came from the Royal Beau colors are appealing. I guess I should add that looking at the images in OrchidWiz, there are also "real peachy-orange-colored" forms as well. The flowers are about 3-4 inches across, and the plant could be considered a compact or mini-catt, the pseudobulbs and leaves together only about six to eight inches long, so it is a good compromise between the larger Princess Bells and the smaller Beaufort parents.

Namewise, as you might guess, there is a change. Since Sophronitis are now Cattleya, Royal Beau is now a Cattleya, too. Whatever you call it, it is still a nice little plant and a reliable bloomer. Contributed by Dick Pippen

Clyde Butcher's monumental photographs celebrate the beauty of the natural landscape. The exquisite beauty and depth of his work draw the viewer into a relationship with nature. In the tradition of the nineteenth-century Hudson River School painters, Clyde composes his works at pristine and untarnished locations across the United States and world, creating arresting compositions that distinctly mark him as the foremost landscape photographer in America today. His photography transcends political boundaries, challenging us to work together to protect natural places across the globe.

Although Butcher will always be identified with the Everglades, he is deeply committed to recording precious landscapes throughout the world. The beauty and importance of Butcher's photography quickly earned widespread recognition resulting in museum exhibits in the United States, an exhibit at the National Gallery of Art in Prague celebrating the new millennium, and a request by the United Nations to photograph the mountains of Cuba to celebrate The Year of the Mountains.
