President's Letter

November 2023

Richard Davenport
President, Naples Orchid Society, Inc.
Davenport.richardalan@gmail.com

Greetings to all orchid lovers!

The noticeably cooler and dryer October weather finally arrived. Excepting the deluge, we experienced about two weeks ago, with over 6" of rain in about 12 hours! Anyway, our local weather affects your orchid plants too. Fall's shorter daylight hours give your plants less time to dry out. Less daylight coupled with an afternoon shower and a cooler evening equals your plants spending the night in cold, damp media, an environment susceptible to black bacterial rot on leaves, pseudobulbs and rhizomes. Therefore, keep your fans on all evening to aid drying. Spray every 7-10 days with a systemic fungicide (Thiomyl, BanRot, Bayer Bio-Advanced, Cleary's 3336, Physan 20, Aliette, or Subdue) to prevent rot and other fungi from starting. Alternate spray brands every two or three uses so you do not breed fungicide-resistant super bacteria.

Colder weather is coming. To increase your plants cold tolerance:

1. Spray liberally with an Epsom salts (magnesium sulfate) solution at the rate of a tablespoon per gallon of spray several times before the first cold front in December or January.
2. Imitate nature and let all your plants endure a hard dry out 5-6 days without water. This will make the soft new growths harder and less likely to be "burned" by lower temperatures. We grow mostly warm climate plants. Our floriferous vandas and hard cane dendrobiums are particularly susceptible to cold damage.
3. Prepare your growing area with propane or electrical heat, if possible. Leave the fans running to increase circulation and spread the heat around. Do not aim radiant resistance heaters directly at your plants. They will get heat burned quickly.
4. Long-time growers often flood the ground under their plants prior to a cold snap to get heat transfer from the ground to the air. Do not mix water and electric heaters.
5. Figure out ahead of cold weather which of your plants will need to be brought inside overnight. What, when, who and where?

Many plants can survive colder than optimal weather for short periods of time. That said, too much cold exposure may set back future growth and blooming, even as the plant struggles to survive. We want your plants to thrive, not just survive.

Tip of the month. We ordered a small stainless-steel commercial restaurant kitchen table online. Why? Our "experienced" wood potting bench is starting to deteriorate and decay. Every time we set a plant down on the old bench while preparing new pots, baskets or mounts, trimming dead roots, etc., we were potentially transferring bacteria, fungus and even viruses from the old potting bench surface to the now newly repotted orchid. Not a good start for its future life. So keep your repotting area as clean and sterile as possible. You may not need or have room for a permanent work area. A waterproof plant-repotting mat can be had for less than $10.00 on Amazon. They are easily cleaned and sterilized with isopropyl alcohol or a fungicide wipe down after each plant. At the end of the day, it can be rolled up and stored until needed again.

Great News. Effective with our December meeting, we are moving over to Moss Hall! We will have better acoustics, a new seating arrangement, a stage, a kitchen and room for more members. Our December meeting will be our annual Holiday Party. It will be a potluck dinner party with NOS providing the meat courses. Members are asked to sign up at our November meeting to bring salads, rolls, side dishes, and desserts. In addition, every current Individual or Joint member present will receive a free orchid plant as a holiday gift from NOS.

Election, Volunteers, Membership, 50th Anniversary Orchid Show and Sale.

- Our annual Board of Directors election will take place at the November meeting. Be there and be sure to vote.
- Volunteers are needed for everything we do. Sign up soon. You receive in proportion to what you give.
- We will have Membership tables and displays at the Naples Yard and Garden Show at the UF/IFAS Extension Center on Immokalee Road from 10-28 to 10-29. In January 2024, we will be at the upcoming Everglades Coalition annual meeting in Bonita Springs. Both events promote our commitment to orchid research and conservation while flying the NOS flag,
- Our BIG Orchid Show is coming soon. This is our biggest event of 2024. All hands on deck!

NOVEMBER SPEAKER – CAROL HOLDREN

Carol is a long time orchid lover with a history of willing participation in the affairs and activities of orchid societies. She was Director of Personnel at an independent supermarket chain before moving from Indiana to Florida in 1984. She finished her BS in Business at Florida Atlantic University.

She bought a purple Vanda at a local botanical garden show and the seed was planted. That plant led to several others as well as membership and participation in the local orchid society. As her collection grew she and some of her orchid friends took a class in Orchidology at the University of Florida.

Carol also began attending the West Palm Beach Judging Center and became an accredited judge in 2003. She was Trustee of the American Orchid Society. She is presently Vice-Chair of the West Palm Beach Judging Center. Carol is also a director of the International Orchid Foundation.

She has been an AOS Accredited Orchid Judge for over 20 years, and during that time has judged hundreds of shows around the world. That is a lot of orchids! Along the way, Carol has also been picking up advice from the best growers in the world and will be happy to share some of those "Tips & Tricks" with you at our meeting.

Conserving Orchids by Conserving Orchid Habitat

The OCA conserves orchids by funding habitat preservation. Since inception in 2005 we have helped with the purchase of over 3000 acres of orchid habitat, protecting hundreds of orchid species in Brazil, Ecuador and Colombia. Many species of rare birds, trees, frogs, mammals also find refuge in these reserves.

COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS

From Jack Kramer's "100 Orchids for Florida"

Have you any general advice for getting my cattleyas to bloom? Some do and then some do not.

Half a loaf is better than none. To expect 100% bloom on all plants is asking for a great deal. Most cattleyas bloom better if night temperatures are somewhat cool (about 58 degrees F.) The heritage of the plant, however, may determine the way it blooms, so you might check out parentage to see if cool-growing parents were used and then adjust temperatures accordingly.

Orchidist's Word of the Month

From the October AOS Orchid-gram

family (FAM-uh-lee):

The usual major subdivision of an order or suborder, commonly comprising a plurality of related genera; ending with -aceae as in Orchidaceae.

TASKS FOR NOVEMBER

From Florida Orchid Growing Month by Month by Martin Motes, PhD

- Prepare for cold.
- Reduce fertilizer.
- Apply extra potassium & magnesium.
- Segregate dormant genera in bright dry area.
- Repot plants after flowering.
- Groom Plants & flower spikes for holiday display.

PROGRESS OF THE SEASON

(From Martin Motes - Motes Orchids, October 2023 Monthly Newsletter)

An exceptionally wet September has drawn to a close. Fortunately, much of the excess water was dumped upon us from thunderstorms more typical of June than the slow drizzle characteristic of September. This has given us intervals of bright weather that have allowed our orchids to dry. The accompanying extra high humidity has however encouraged opportunistic fungi like Alternaria to flourish. As this disease most commonly starts on the tips of leaves, constant, careful observation and prompt removal with a sterile blade goes a long way toward keeping it under control. It along with most other leaf spotting diseases are controlled or eliminated using the spray program set forth in Fla. Orchid Growing.

October has also gotten off to a wet start but the cause, a stalled cold front, may be good news signally that broad cold fronts will be reaching South Florida regularly and lowering humidity as well as temperature. This should give us the opportunity to allow our plants to dry out, as they need to. Sympodial orchids are mostly finishing their growth cycle and are ready for diminished fertilizer and water. Let them dry. Vanda's which have been sucking up the additional rainfall are still growing leaves and extravagant roots. Be sure to feed them regularly as the heavy rains have leached out nutrients from their roots. A single application of high phosphorus "Bloom Booster" can be helpful, not in increasing blooms, but encouraging roots.

Thrips and mites should not be a problem for a while until we have an extended period of warm dry weather, which might enable Thrips. Control of mites is best left until November when the best and most effective methods are available. Scouting for snails early in the day while they are still on the move is recommended. It is always good to be sure; they are under control before they estivate.

The time of the glorious weather, which we live in Florida for, has begun. It is also time to begin planting that veggie garden. Or at least to plant tomatoes.
